

Are Vaccines Safe?

Parents often have concerns about vaccine safety. Dr. Herrero strongly endorses the CDC and AAP schedule of recommended vaccinations and feels that the vast benefits greatly outweigh the minimal risks involved. It is important to remember that "anecdotes" do not equal "data," and "correlation does not equal causation." Below is a well vetted list of scientific articles, web reviews and blogs that provide accurate and scientifically sound information about vaccine safety and efficacy:

- Vaccines and Autism: A Tale of Shifting Hypotheses
- 50 most common Anti-vaccines myths and misinformation
- Vaccine Misinformation
- The risks of Dr. Sears' "alternative vaccine schedule"
- A "crunchy mom's reversal on vaccinations- resource list included
- 8-reasons-you-are-wrong-about-not-vaccinating-your-daughter
- Yes Autism Rates are Rising, Vaccines aren't the Cause
- Parents you're being lied to